Text: Jeremiah 24:1-10

Theme: The Lord of Hosts has spoken, listen carefully.

- I) God will make for Himself a people who have a _____ to know Him (1-10; specifically v. 7).
  - A. During the bleakest moments in Israel's history, God was not _____ (1-3).
    - 1. The best of the people had been taken captive—the leaders and the skilled craftsmen (1). The situation seemed hopeless.
  - B. The good figs were the exiles that God _____ to be a people for Himself (4-7).
    - 1. The good figs were very good (2-3). Jeremiah is alluding back to Genesis 1:31 when God looked at all of His creation and it was very good. God is restoring His creation.
  - C. The bad figs were the ones _____ in Jerusalem that God abandoned (8-10).

Conclusion: God is making a people for Himself. In the vision that Jeremiah had, there was only two baskets of figs—the good figs and the bad figs. We tend to make a third category of people—the “ok” figs. This is not God's viewpoint. There are only two groups—a people He is making for Himself and those whom He has abandoned. Hebrews 4:1-2, 7 reminds us that today is the day. Do not harden your heart in rebellion against God.
